Re-opening Operating Theatres: Navigating the post Covid-19 elective surgery backlog

Covid-19 has placed extraordinary strains on healthcare systems around the world. Despite still being in the midst of the pandemic, healthcare providers continue to look to the future, and as many Operating Rooms re-open, the challenge of the soaring number of patients facing long waits for routine operations is coming into sharper focus.

Join us for a round table discussion on the important topic of navigating the post Covid-19 elective surgery backlog.

Areas to explore include:

- Strategies to deal with backlogs both short and long term
- Managing patients' expectations around realistic waiting times prior to surgery
- Key learnings from the pandemic so far
- Staff and patient safety

Meet your fellow professionals and the Mölnlycke team – join our live Q&A afterwards.
